P R E F A C E.

I HAVE been induced to undertake the present work under the idea that, in spite of the many excellent compilations of the same class already in existence, there is scarcely one that is at the same time complete, up-to-date, and sufficiently explicit in the matter of references. To meet this want I have given the fullest possible reference to chapter and verse for each quotation; and by drawing the quotations from the best obtainable editions of the Authors themselves, and not from other books of reference, I have, I hope, been able to correct many errors which have crept in through the use of "Quotations of Quotations".

As it would have been impossible to have included in a single volume a complete list of well-known quotations and sayings from the earliest historic times to the present day, this work has been divided into Parts, the present volume containing quotations from only English and American Authors, translations being carefully excluded; I have, however, made an exception in the case of the English Bible.

The second volume, edited by Mr. T. B. Harbottle, which is now nearly ready for press, will contain quotations from only Greek and Latin writers; and it is hoped, if the success of these two Parts warrants it, to complete the work with a volume dealing with modern Continental writers.

My best thanks are due to many friends, especially to Mr. W. Swan Sonnenschein and Mr. J. G. Cotton Minchin, who, during the past five years, have kindly and materially assisted me in my labours, by providing me with many books essential to the undertaking, which I might otherwise have been put to much difficulty and inconvenience to obtain.

I serv'd my King, He would not in mine age

Have left me naked to mine enemies."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VIII. (Wolsey), Act III., Sc. II.

"Cromwell, I charge thee, fling away ambition ;

By that sin fell the angels. How can man then,

The image of his Maker, hope to win by it ?

Love thyself last : cherish those hearts that hate thee ;

Corruption wins not more than honesty.

Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace,

To silence envious tongues. Be just, and fear not :

Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's,

Thy God's, and truth's ; then if thou fall'st, O Cromwell,

Thou fall'st a blessed martyr."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VIII. (Wolsey), Act III., Sc. II.

"Cromwell, I did not think to shed a tear

In all my miseries ; but thou hast forc'd me,

Out of thy honest truth, to play the woman."

Than to be sure they do ; for certainties
Either are past remedies, or, timely knowing,
The remedy then boine.”

SHAKESPEARE. Cymbeline (Imogen), Act I., Sc. VI.

“ D'ye think that statesmen's kindnesses proceed
From any principles but their own need ?
When they're afraid, they're wondrous good and free,
But when they're safe, they have no memory.”

SIR R. HOWARD. The Vestal Virgin.

“ Dreams grow holy, put in action ; work grows fair through starry dreaming ;

ADELAIDE PROCTER. Philip and Mildred.

“ (Lived in those) dreams of truth
The Eden birds of early youth.
That make the loveliness of love.” L. E. L. The Improvisatrice.

“ Dreams ;
Which are the children of an idle brain
Begot of nothing but vain phantasy.”
SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Mercutio), Act I., Sc. IV.

“ Each ounce of dross costs its ounce of gold.”

LOWELL. Vision of Sir Launfal (Prelude to Pt. I.).

“ Each petty hand
Can steer a ship becalm’d ; but he that will Govern and carry her to her ends, must know
His tides, his currents ; how to shift his sails
What she will bear in foul, what in fair weather ,
What her springs are, her leaks, and how to stop them ;
What strands, what shelves, what rocks do threaten her.
The forces and the natures of all winds,
Gusts, storms, and tempests ; when her keel ploughs hell,
And deck knocks heaven ; then to manage her
Becomes the name and office of a pilot.”

BEN JONSON. Catiline (Cato), Act III., Sc. I.

“ Each substance of a grief hath twenty shadows,
Which show like grief itself, but are not so ;
For sorrow’s eye, glazed with blinding tears,
Divides one thing entire, to many objects ;
Like perspectives, which rightly gaz’d upon,
Show nothing but confusion,—ey’d awry,
Distinguish form.”

GRAY. Elegy in a Country Churchyard.

“ Fare thee well ! and if for ever,
Still for ever, fare thee well.”

BYRON. Domestic Picces, Fare thee well.

“ Farewell, a long farewell to all my greatness !
This is the state of man : To-day he puts forth
The tender leaves of hope ; to-morrow blossoms,
And bears his blushing honours thick upon him ;
The third day comes a frost, a killing frost,
And—when he thinks, good easy man, full sure
His greatness is a-ripening—nips his root,
And then he falls as I do. I have ventur'd
Like little wanton boys that swim on bladders,
This many summers in a sea of glory ;
But far beyond my depth : my high-blown pride
At length broke under me ; and now has left me,
Weary and old with service, to the mercy
Of a rude stream, that must for ever hide me.
Vain pomp and glory of this world, I hate ye :
I feel my heart new open'd. O how wretched
Is that poor man that hangs on princes' favours !
There is betwixt that smile we would aspire to,
That sweet aspect of princes, and their ruin,
More pangs and fears than wars or women have ;
And when he falls, he falls like Lucifer,
Never to hope again.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VIII. (Wolsey), Act III., Sc. II.

“ (O, now, for ever)

Farewell the tranquil mind! farewell content!
Farewell the plumed troop, and the big wars,
That make ambition virtue! O, farewell!
Farewell the neighing steed, and the shrill trump,
The spirit-stirring drum, th' ear-piercing fife,
The royal banner and all quality,
Pride, pomp, and circumstance of glorious war!
And, O, you mortal engines whose rude throats
Th' immortal Jove's dread clamours counterfeit,
Farewell! Othello's occupation's gone!”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Othello), Act III., Sc. III.

“ Fashion ever is a wayward child.”

MASON. The English Garden, Bk. IV., line 430.

SHAKESPEARE. All’s Well that Ends Well (King),
Act II., Sc. III.

“(From Nature doth emotion come,) and moods
Of calmness equally are Nature’s gift:
This is her glory: these two attributes
Are sister horns that constitute her strength.
Hence Genius, born to thrive by interchange
Of peace and excitation, finds in her
His best and purest friend; from her receives
That energy by which he seeks the truth,
From her that happy stillness of the mind
Which fits him to receive it when unsought.”

PRIOR. Epigram on Partial Fame.

" How poor are they that have not patience !
What wound did ever heal but by degrees ? "
SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Iago), Act II., Sc. III.

" How poor religious pride,
In all the pomp of method, and of art,
When men display to congregations wide,
Devotion's every grace except the heart ! "
BURNS. The Cotter's Saturday Night.

" How quickly Nature falls into revolt
When gold becomes her object ! "
SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (King Henry),
Act IV., Sc. IV.

" ('Tis sure the hardest science to forget ;)
How shall I lose the sin, yet keep the sense,
And love th' offender, yet detest th' offence ? "
POPE. Eloisa to Abelard, line 191.

" How shall we rank thee * upon Glory's page ?
Thou more than soldier and just less than sage !
Too formed for peace to act a conqueror's part,
Too trained in camps to learn a statesman's art,
Nature designed thee for a hero's mould,
But, ere she cast thee, let the stuff grow cold ! "
T. MOORE. Epistle to Thos. Hume, Esq., M.D

* George Washington.

“(That she may feel)

How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is
To have a thankless child.”

SHAKESPEARE. King Lear (Lear), Act I., Sc. IV.

“How silver-sweet sound lover's tongues by night,
Like softest music to attending ears!”

SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Romco), Act II., Sc. II.

“How sleep the brave, who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When Spring, with dewy fingers cold,
Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.”

COLLINS. Ode Written in 1746.

“How slow

Behind the course of thought, even sick with speed,
Lags leaden-footed time!”

SHELLEY. The Cenci (Beatrice), Act IV., Sc. II.

“How slow the day

Slides on! when we desire time's haste,
It seems to lose a match with lobsters;
And when we wish him stay, he imp's his wings
With feathers plum'd with thought.”

JOHN TOMPKINS. Albumazar (Pandolfo), Act II., Sc. VI.

“How small a fence Love sets between the king
And the strong hind, who breeds his brood, and dies
Upon the field he tills.” LEWIS MORRIS. Epic of Hades, Helen.

“How soon a smile of God can change the world!
How we are made for happiness—how work
Grows play, adversity a winning fight!”

R. BROWNING. In a Balcony.

“How soon the tale of ages may be told!
A page, a verse, records the fall of fame,”

F. HEMANS. Modern Greece, LXVII.

“How sour sweet music is,
When time is broke, and no proportion kept!
So is it in the music of men's lives.”

SHAKESPEARE. Richard II. (Richard), Act V., Sc. V.

“How sweet are looks that ladies bend
On whom their favours fall!”

TENNYSON. Sir Galahad.

“How sweet is death to those who weep,
To those who weep and long to die!”

T. MOORE. Juvenile Pieces, Elcgiac Stanzas.

“How sweet the moon-light sleeps upon this bank!
Here will we sit, and let the sounds of music
Creep in our ears; soft stillness, and the night,
Become the touches of sweet harmony.”

SHAKESPEARE. The Merchant of Venice (Lorenzo),
Act V., Sc. I.

"How sweetly sounds the voice of a good woman!
It is so seldom heard, that, when it speaks,
It ravishes all senses."

MIDDLETON. The Old Law (Leonides), Act IV., Sc. II.

"How use doth breed a habit in a man."

SHAKESPEARE. Two Gentlemen of Verona (Valentine), Act V., Sc. IV.

"How vain the ardour of the crowd,
How low, how little, are the proud,
How indigent the great!"

GRAY. Ode to the Spring.

"How weak a thing
The heart of woman is!"

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Portia), Act II., Sc. IV.

"How were pity understood Unless by pain?"

R. BROWNING. Parleyings with Certain People, Francis Farini.

"How wise they are that are but fools in love!"

* JOSHUA COOKE. How a Man may Choose a Good Wife from a Bad (Anselm), Act I., Sc. I.

* Generally attributed to Joshua Cooke, but the authorship is somewhat uncertain.

"Howe'er man rules in science and in art,
The sphere of woman's glories is the heart."

Is skilful to invent most serious names
To hide its ignorance."

"Humanity always becomes a conqueror."

SHERIDAN. Pizarro (Elvira), Act I., Sc. I.

"Humble love,
And not proud reason, keeps the door of heaven!
Love finds admission where proud science fails."

YOUNG. Night Thoughts, Night IX., line 1859.

"Hunger is bitter, but the worst
Of human pangs, the most accursed
Of Want's fell scorpions, is Thirst."

"Hunger is sharper than the sword."

BEAUMONT AND FLETCHER. The Honest Man's Fortune (La-Poof), Act II., Sc. II.

"Hunger makes coarse meats delicate."

HERRICK. Hesperides, 107.

My right there is none to dispute.”
COWPER. Alexander Selkirk.
- “I am Sir Oracle,
And, when I ope my lips, let no dog bark.”
SHAKESPEARE. The Merchant of Venice (Gratiano),
Act I., Sc. I.
- “I am the daughter of earth and water,
And the nursling of the sky ;
I pass through the pores of the ocean and shores ;
I change, but I cannot die.”
SHELLEY. The Cloud, VI.
- “I bring fresh showers for the thirsty flowers,
From the seas and the streams ;
I bear light shade for the leaves when laid
In their noon-day dreams.”
SHELLEY. The Cloud, I.
- “I call a spade a spade.”
BURTON. Anatomy of Melancholy. Democritus to the Reader.
- “I cannot love my lord, and not his name.”
TENNYSON. Geraint and Enid.
- “I cannot sink
So far—far down, but I shall know
Thy voice, and answer from below.”
TENNYSON. Eleänore.
- “I could a tale unfold, whose lightest word
Would harrow up thy soul.”
SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Ghost), Act I., Sc. V.
- “I could not love thee, dear, so much,
Loved I not honour more.”
R. LOVELACE. To Lucasta, on going to the Wars.

"I count myself in nothing else so happy,
As in a soul remembering my good friends."

SHAKESPEARE. *King Richard II. (Bolingbroke),
Act II., Sc. III.*

"I dare do all that may become a man;
Who dares do more, is none."

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Macbeth), Act I., Sc. VII.

"I do hate him, as I hate the devil."

BEN JONSON. Every Man Out of his Humour (Macilente), Act I., Sc. I.

"I do not love thee, Doctor Fell,
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this alone I know full well,
I do not love thee, Doctor Fell."

TOM BROWN.

"I fear, that in the election of a wife,
As in a project of war, to err but once
Is to be undone for ever."

MIDDLETON. *Anything for a Quiet Life (Lord Beaufort),
Act I., Sc. I.*

"I had rather be a dog, and bay the moon,
Than such a Roman."

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Brutus), Act IV., Sc. III.

"I had rather be a kitten, and cry mew,
Than one of these same metre ballad-mongers;
I had rather hear a brazen canstick turn'd,
Or a dry wheel grate on the axle-tree;
And that would set my teeth nothing on edge
Nothing so much as mincing poetry:—
'Tis like the forc'd gait of a shuffling nag."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. I. (Hotspur), Act III., Sc. I.

"I had rather stand in the shock of a basilisk, than in the fury of a merciless pen."

SIR T. BROWNE. Religio Medici, Pt. II., Sec. IV.

"I have but one simile, and that's a blunder,
For wordless woman, which is silent thunder."

BYRON. Don Juan, Can. VI., St. 57.

"I have heard indeed, that two negatives make an affirmative; but I never heard before that two nothings ever made anything."

DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM. Speech in the House of Lords.

"I have no other, but a woman's reason;
I think him so, because I think him so."

SHAKESPEARE. Two Gentlemen of Verona (Lucetta), Act I., Sc. II.

"Besides, I have a woman's reason, I will not dance, because I will not dance."

MIDDLETON. *Blurt, Master Constable (Violetta),
Act I., Sc. I.*

“ I have set my life upon a cast,
And I will stand the hazard of the dye.”

SHAKESPEARE. *Richard III. (King Richard),
Act V., Sc. IV.*

“ (Her stature tall)—I hate a dumpy woman.”

BYRON. Don Juan, Can. I., St. 61.

“ I hear a voice you cannot hear,
Which says I must not stay ;
I see a hand you cannot see,
Which beckons me away.”

TICKELL. Colin and Lucy.

“ I hold a mouse’s wit not worth a leke
That hath but on hole for to sterthen to.”

CHAUCER. Wyfe of Bath’s Prologue, line 572.

“ The mouse that always trusts to one poor hole,
Can never be a mouse of soul.”

POPE. The Wife of Bath, line 297.

“ I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows,
Where oxlip and the nodding violet grows ;
Quite over-canopy’d with luscious woodbine,
With sweet musk-roses, and with eglantine.”

SHAKESPEARE. Midsummer Night’s Dream (Oberon), Act II., Sc. II.

“ I know a trick worth two of that.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. I. (1st Carrier), Act II., Sc. I.

“ I know on which side my bread is buttered.”

J. HEYWOOD. Proverbs, Bk. II., Ch. VII.

“ I’ll follow thee, and make a heaven of hell,
To die upon the hand I love so well.”

SHAKESPEARE. *Midsummer Night’s Dream (Helena),
Act II., Sc. II.*

“ I’ll make assurance doubly sure,
And take a bond of fate.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Macbeth), Act IV., Sc. I.

“ I’ll make thee glorious by my pen,
And famous by my sword.”

MONTROSE. I’ll Never Love Thee More.

“ I’ll see thee hang’d first.”

BEAUMONT AND FLETCHER. The Knight of the Pestle, Act I., Sc. IV.

“ I love everything that’s old: old friends, old times, old manners, old books, old wine.”

GOLDSMITH. *She Stoops to Conquer (Hardcastle),
Act I., Sc. I.*

“ I must be cruel only to be kind.”

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act III., Sc. IV.

“I pause for a reply.”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Brutus), Act III., Sc. II.

PRIOR. The Conversation, line 16.

“I pray you, think you question with the Jew :

You may as well go stand upon the beach,
And bid the main flood bate his usual height ;
You may as well use question with the wolf,
Why he hath made the ewe bleat for the lamb ;
You may as well forbid the mountain pines
To wag their high tops, and to make no noise,
When they are fretted with the gusts of heaven ;
You may as well do anything most hard,
As seek to soften that (than which what's harder ?)
His Jewish heart.”

SHAKESPEARE. The Merchant of Venice (Antonio), Act IV., Sc. I.

Vide—“You may as well,” etc.

“I remember, I remember,
The fir-trees dark and high :
I used to think their slender tops
Were close against the sky ;
It was a childish ignorance,
But now 'tis little joy
To know I'm farther off from heaven
Than when I was a boy.”

HOOD. I Remember.

“I saw young Harry,—with his beaver on,
His cuisses on his thighs, gallantly arm'd,—
Rise from the ground like feather'd Mercury,
And vaulted with such ease into his seat,
As if an angel dropp'd down from the clouds,
To turn and wind a fiery Pegasus,
And witch the world with noble horsemanship.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. I. (Vernon). Act IV., Sc. 1.

“I see but cannot reach, the height
That lies for ever in the light ;
And yet for ever, and for ever,
When seeming just within my grasp,
I feel my feeble hands unclasp,
And sink discouraged into night !”

LONGFELLOW. The Golden Legend, II.

“I take a long, last, lingering view ;
Adieu, my native land, adieu !”

LOGAN. The Lovers (Harriet).

- “—I've heard of hearts unkind, kind deeds
With coldness still returning ;
Alas ! the ingratitude of men
Hath oftener left me mourning.” WORDSWORTH. Simon Lee.
- “I went to Frankfort, and got drunk
With that most learn'd professor, Brunck ;
I went to Worms, and got more drunken
With that more learn'd professor, Ruhncken.”
PORSON. Facetiæ Cantab.
- “I will a round unvarnish'd tale deliver
Of my whole course of love.”
SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Othello), Act I., Sc. III.

- “(Was sluggish) idleness, the nourse of sin.”
SPENSER. Fæerie Queene, Bk. I., Can. IV., St. 18.
- “If a cherub in the shape of woman
Should walk this world, yet defamation would,
Like a vile cur, bark at the angel's train.”
HOME. Douglas (Anna), Act III.
- “If a daughter you have, she's the plague of your life,
No peace shall you know, though you've buried your wife !
At twenty she mocks at the duty you taught her—
Oh, what a plague is an obstinate daughter !”
SHERIDAN. The Duenna (Don Ferome), Act I., Sc. III.
- “If a little knowledge is dangerous, where is the man who has so much as to be out of danger ?”
HUXLEY. Science and Culture. On Elementary Instruction in Physiology.
- “If all the year were playing holidays,
To sport would be as tedious as to work.”
SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. I. (Prince Henry), Act I., Sc. II.
- “If angels fight,
Weak men must fall ; for Heaven still guards the right.”
SHAKESPEARE. Richard II. (York), Act III., Sc. II.

Ill fates may hurt us, but not harm, at last."
SIR E. ARNOLD. Adzuma, Act I., Sc. III.
- " If I lose mine honour
I lose myself."
SHAKESPEARE. Antony and Cleopatra (Antony), Act III., Sc. IV.
- " ' If' is the only peacemaker; much virtue in ' If'."
SHAKESPEARE. As You Like It (Touchstone), Act V., Sc. IV.
- " If it were done, when 'tis done, then 'twere well
It were done quickly: if the assassination
Could trammel up the consequence, and catch,
With his surcease, success; that but this blow
Might be the be-all and the end-all here,
But here, upon this bank and shoal of time,—
We'd jump the life to come. But, in these cases,
We still have judgment here; that we but teach
Bloody instructions, which, being taught, return
To plague the inventor: This even-handed justice
Commend the ingredients of our poison'd chalice
To our own lips."
SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Macbeth), Act I., Sc. VII.
- " If Jove stray, who dares say, Jove doth ill?"
SHAKESPEARE. Pericles (Pericles), Act I., Sc. I.
- " If ladies be but young and fair,
They have the gift to know it."
SHAKESPEARE. As You Like It (Jaques), Act II., Sc. VII.
- " If little labour, little are our gains;
Man's fortunes are according to his pains."
HERRICK. Hesperides, 754.
- " If lovers should mark everything a fault,
Affection would be like an ill-set book,
Whose faults might prove as big as half a volume."
MIDDLETON AND ROWLEY. The Changeling, Act II., Sc. I.

“If men were better instructed themselves, they would be less imposing on others.”

LOCKE. Essay on the Understanding, Bk. IV., Ch. XVI., § 4.

“If reasons were as plenty as blackberries, I would give no man a reason upon compulsion.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. I. (Falstaff), Act II., Sc. IV.

“If solid happiness we prize,

Within our breast this jewel lies;

And they are fools who roam:

The world has nothing to bestow;

From our own selves our joys must flow,

And that dear hut,—our home.”

N. COTTON. The Fireside, St. 3.

“If that the earth could teem with woman's tears,
Each drop she falls would prove a crocodile.”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Othello), Act. IV., Sc. I.

“If the affections were taken away, reason would be like the pilot of a ship forsaken by the winds, in a profound calm.”

KENELM DIGBY. The Broad Stone of Honour (Godefridus), XVII.

“If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.”

ST. MATTHEW. Ch. XV., ver. 14.

“If the past is not to bind us, where can duty lie? We should have no law but the inclination of the moment.”

GEORGE ELIOT. The Mill on the Floss (Maggie), Bk. VI., Ch. XIV.

“If the Poet be born, not made, is it not because he is born to sympathise with what he has never experienced?”

BULWER LYTTON. What will he Do with It? (George Morley), Bk. XII., Ch. II.

“If there's a sin more deeply black than others,

Distinguish'd from the list of common crimes,

A legion in itself, and doubly dear

HANNAH MORE. Percy (Douglas), Act III.

“If thou wilt go seek for a thief, no wonder if thou be robbed.”

“ If thou wilt mighty be, flee from the rage
Of cruel will : and see that thou keep free
From the foul yoke of sensual bondage :
For though thine empire stretch to Indian sea,
And for thy fear trembleth the farthest Thulé,
If thy desire hath over thee the power,
Subject then art thou, and no governor.”

SIR T. WYATT. He Ruleth Not.

“ If thou would'st be happy, learn to please.”

PRIOR. Solomon, Bk. II., line 266.

If shepherds wrangle when the wolf is nigh."

SIR W. SCOT. Halidon Hill (Swinton), Act I., Sc. II.

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay:
Princes and lords may flourish or may fade;
A breath can make them, as a breath has made;
But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
When once destroyed, can never be supplied."

GOLDSMITH. The Deserted Village, line 51.

- “In sooth, I know not why I am so sad ;
It wearies me ; you say it wearies you ;
But how I caught it, I found it, or came by it,
What stuff 'tis made of, whereof it is born,
I am to learn ;
And such a want-wit sadness makes of me,
That I have much ado to know myself.”
SHAKESPEARE. The Merchant of Venice (Antonio) Act I., Sc. I.
- “In the corrupted currents of this world,
Offence's gilded hand may shove by justice ;
And oft 'tis seen the wicked prize itself
Buys out the law : But 'tis not so above :
There is no shuffling, there the action lies
In his true nature ; and we ourselves compelled,
Even to the teeth and foreheads of our faults
To give in evidence.”
SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (King), Act II., Sc. III.

- “ Knowledge and Wisdom, far from being one, †
 I have oftimes no connexion. Knowledge dwells
 In heads replete with thoughts of other men ;
 Wisdom in minds attentive to their own.
 Knowledge, a rude unprofitable mass,
 The mere materials with which Wisdom builds,
 Till smooth'd and squared, and fitted to its place,
 Does but encumber whom it seems to enrich.
 Knowledge is proud that he has learn'd so much ;
 Wisdom is humble that he knows no more.”

SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Romco), Act I., Sc. I.

"Love is a sour delight, a sugred greefe,
A living death, an ever dying life;
A breach of Reason's lawe, a secret theefe,
A sea of teeres, an everlasting strife;

A bayte for fooles; a scourge of noble witts;

A deadly wound, a shotte which ever hits."

THOS. WATSON. The Passionate Centurie of Love, XVIII.

"Love is a spiritual coupling of two souls,
So much more excellent, as it least relates
Unto the body; circular, eternal,
Not feign'd, or made, but born: and then so precious,
As nought can value it but itself; so free
As nothing can commend it but itself;
And in itself so sound and liberal,
As where it favours it bestows itself."

Aloof from the entire point.”

SHAKESPEARE. King Lear (King of France), Act I., Sc. I.

“Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds,
Or bends with the remover to remove :
O no ! it is an ever fixed mark,
That looks on tempests, and is never shaken .
It is the star to every wandering bark,
Whose worth’s unknown, although his height be taken.”

SHAKESPEARE. Sonnet CXVI.

“Love is not much unlike ambition ;
For in them both all lets must be remov’d
’Twixt every crown and him that would aspire ;
And he that will attempt to win the same
Must plunge up to the depth o’er head and ears,
And hazard drowning in the purple sea :
So he that loves must needs through blood and fire,
And do all things to compass his desire.”

JOSHUA COOKE. How a Man may choose, etc. (Young Arthur), Act III., Sc. II.

" Love is not to be reason'd down, or lost
 In high ambition, and a thirst of greatness ;
 'Tis second life, it grows into the soul,
 Warms every vein, and beats in every pulse."

C. DICKENS. David Copperfield (Mr. Micawber),
Ch. XII.

“Never the lotus closes, never the wild-fowl wake,
But a soul goes out on the East wind that died for England’s sake—
Man or woman or suckling, mother or bride or maid—
Because on the bones of the English the English flag is stayed.”

RUDYARD KIPLING. The English Flag.

“Never yet was shape so dread,
But fancy, thus in darkness thrown,
And by such sounds of horror fed,
Could frame more dreadful of her own.”

T. MOORE. Lalla Rookh, VII.

“New honours, come upon him
Like our strange garments, cleave not to their mould,
But with the aid of use.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Banquo), Act I., Sc. III.

“New-made honour doth forget men’s names.”

SHAKESPEARE. King John (Bastard), Act I., Sc. I.

Can blazon evil deeds, or consecrate a crime."
BYRON. Childe Harold, Can. I., III.
- "Nor feed, for pomp, an idle train,
While want unpitied pines in vain."
LANGHORNE. Hymn to Humanity, St. 4.

“Nor stony tower, nor walls of beaten brass,
Nor airless dungeon, nor strong links of iron,
Can be retentive to the strength of spirit ;
But life, being weary of these worldly bars,
Never lacks power to dismiss itself.”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Cassius), Act I., Sc. III.

“Not a vanity is given in vain.”

POPE. Essay on Man, Ep. II., line 290.

“Not a worm is cloven in vain ;
That not a moth with vain desire
Is shrivel'd in a fruitless fire,
Or but subserves another's gain.”

TENNYSON. In Memoriam, LIV.

“Not all the water in the rough-rude sea
Can wash the balm from an anointed King ;
The breath of worldly men cannot depose
The deputy elected by the Lord.”

SHAKESPEARE. *Richard II. (King Richard),
Act III., Sc. II.*

“Not dead, but gone before.”

ROGERS. Human Life.

“The buried are not lost, but gone before.”

E. ELLIOTT. The Excursion.

“Dear is the spot where Christians sleep,
And sweet the strain which angels pour ;
Oh, why should we in anguish weep ?
They are not lost, but gone before.”

ANON. From Smith's Edinboro' Harmony, 1829.

“Not for mortal tear
Doth Nature deviate from her calm career :
Nor is the Earth less laughing or less fair,
Though breaking hearts her gladness may not share.”

F. HEMANS. The Abencerrage, Can. I., I.

“Not oaks alone are trees, nor roses flowers ;
Much humble wealth makes rich this world of ours.”

LEIGH HUNT. On Pomfret's Choice.

“Not once or twice in our rough island story,
The path of duty is the way to glory.”

TENNYSON. Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington.

Sc. V.

“(For) nothing goes for sense or light,
That will not with old rules jump right.”

BUTLER. Hudibras, Pt. I., Can. III., line 135.

“Nothing in his life
Became him like the leaving it; he died
As one that had been studied in his death,
To throw away the dearest thing he owed,
As ’twere a careless trifle.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Malcolm), Act I., Sc. IV.

“Nothing in this world is single;

All things by a law divine
In one another’s being mingle.”

SHELLEY. Love’s Philosophy

With an eye that feeling gave;—
For him there’s a story in every breeze,

T. MOORE. Boat Glee. Song from M. P., or the Blue Stocking.

“Nothing is so good as it seems beforehand.”

GEORGE ELIOT. Silas Marner (Nancy), Chap. XVIII.

“Nothing is so rash as fear; and the counsels of pusillanimity very rarely put off, whilst they are always sure to aggravate, the evils from which they would fly.”

BURKE. Letters on the Regicide Peace, I.

“Nothing is thought rare
Which is not new and follow'd; yet we know
That what was worn some twenty years ago
Comes into grace again.”

J. FLETCHER. The Noble Gentleman. Prologuc.

“Nothing lovelier can be found
In woman, than to study household good,
And good works in her husband to promote.”

MILTON. Paradise Lost, Bk. IX., line 232.

“Nothing rocks love asleep but death.”

J. FLETCHER. The Pilgrim (Pedro), Act V., Sc. IV.

“Nothing so good, but it may be abused.”

“Nothing I thou elder brother e'en to shade.”

ROCHESTER. Poem on Nothing.

“Nothing was born;
Nothing will die;
All things will change.”

TENNYSON. Nothing will Die.

“Nothing walks with aimless feet;
That not one life shall be destroy'd,
Or cast as rubbish to the void,
When God hath made the pile complete.”

TENNYSON. In Memoriam, LIV.

“Nothing wins a man sooner than a good turn.”

BURTON. Anatomy of Melancholy, Part III., Sec. I.,
Mem. II., Subs. I.

“Nought so stockish, hard and full of rage,
But music for the time doth change his nature.”

Act V., Sc. I.

“Nought's had, all's spent,
Where our desire is got without content:
'Tis safer to be that which we destroy,
Than, by destruction, dwell in doubtful joy.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Lady Macbeth), Act III., Sc. II.

“Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by this sun of York.”

SHAKESPEARE. Richard III. (Gloster), Act I., Sc. I.

" Now morn her rosy steps in th' Eastern clime Advancing, sow'd the earth with orient pearl."

" Youth is subject to sudden fits of despondency. Its hopes go up and down like a bucket in a draw-well."

J. M. BARRIE. Better Dead, Ch. III.

" O Caledonia! stern and wild,
Meet nurse for a poetic child!
Land of brown heath and shaggy wood,
Land of the mountain and the flood,
Land of my sires! what mortal hand
Can e'er untie the filial band,
That knits me to thy rugged strand!"

SIR W. SCOTT. The Lay of the Last Minstrel,
Can. VI., II.

" O Charity, divinely wise,
Thou meek-ey'd Daughter of the Skies!"

HANNAH MORE. Ode to Charity.

" O cursed lust of gold! when for thy sake
The fool throws up his interest in both worlds;
First starved in this, then damned in that to come."

BLAIR. The Grave, line 347.

" O Death in Life, the days that are no more."

TENNYSON. The Princess, IV. "Tears, Idle Tears," last line.

" O Death! the poor man's dearest friend." BURNS. Despondency.

" O England! modelled to thy inward greatness,
Like little body with a mighty heart."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry V. (Chorus), Act I., Sc. II.

" O faithless world, and thy most faithless part,

A woman's Heart;

The true Shop of variety, where sits

Nothing but fits

And fevers of desire, and pangs of love,

Which toys remove!"

SIR HENRY WOTTON. A Poem Written in his Youth

" O father Abraham! what these Christians are Whose own hard dealing teaches them suspect
The thoughts of others!"

“O God, that men should put an enemy into their mouths to steal away their brains.”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Cassio), Act II., Sc. III.

‘O hateful error, melancholy’s child!

Why dost thou shew to the apt thoughts of men
The things that are not? O error, soon conceiv’d,
Thou never com’st unto a happy birth,
But kill’st the mother that engender’d thee.”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Messala), Act V., Sc. III.

“O heavy burden of a doubtfull minde!”

QUARLES. A Feast for Worms, Sec. 2.

“O human love! thou spirit given
On earth of all we hope in Heaven.”

E. A. POE. Tamerlane.

“O I see thee old and formal, fitted to thy petty part,
With a little hoard of maxims preaching down a daughter’s heart.”

TENNYSON. Locksley Hall.

“O judgment, thou art fled to brutish beasts,
And men have lost their reason!”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Antony), Act III., Sc. II.

“O, let him pass! he hates him
That would upon the rack of this tough world
Stretch him out longer.”

SHAKESPEARE. King Lear (Kent), Act V., Sc. III.

“O let my looks be then my eloquence
And dumb presages of my speaking breast.”

SHAKESPEARE. Sonnet, XXIII.

“O life! how pleasant in thy morning.”

BURNS. To J. S.

“O man! while in thy early years,
How prodigal of time!
Mis-spending all thy precious hours,
Thy glorious, youthful prime!”

BURNS. Despondency.

“O man,
Who never art so near to crime and shame,
As when thou hast achieved some deed of name.”

J. H. NEWMAN. The Dream of Gerontius.

“O me! for why is all around us here
As if some lesser God had made the world,
But had not force to shape it as he would?”

TENNYSON. The Passing of Arthur.

"O mickle is the powerful grace that lies
 In plants, herbs, stones, and their true qualities :
 For nought so vile that on the earth doth live,
 But to the earth some special good doth give ;
 Nor ought so good, but strain'd from that fair use,
 Revolts from true birth, stumbling on abuse."

SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Friar Lawrence), Act II., Sc. III.

"O, my luv'e's like a red, red rose That's newly sprung in June."

BURNS. A red, red rose.

"O my prophetic soul! mine uncle?"

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act I., Sc. V.

"O opportunity, thy guilt is great!

'Tis thou that execut'st the traitor's treason ;
 Thou sett'st the wolf where he the lamb may get ;
 Whoever plots the sin, thou point'st the season ;
 'Tis thou that spurn'st at right, at law, at reason ;
 And in thy shady cell, where none may spy him
 Sits Sin, to seize the souls that wander by him."

SHAKESPEARE. Rape of Lucrece, 126.

"O our lives' sweetness!

That with the pain of death we'd hourly die
 Rather than die at once."

SHAKESPEARE. King Lear (Edgar), Act V., Sc. III.

"O pang all pangs above,
 Is kindness counterfeiting absent Love."

COLERIDGE. The pang more sharp than all.

"O powerful love! that in some respects, makes a beast a man; in some other, a man a beast."

SHAKESPEARE. Merry Wives of Windsor (Falstaff), Act V., Sc. V.

"O purblind race of miserable men,
 How many among us at this very hour
 Do forge a lifelong trouble for ourselves,
 By taking true for false, or false for true!"

TENNYSON Geraint and Enid.

"O, rank is good, and gold is fair,
 And high and low mate ill ;
 But love has never known a law
 Beyond its own sweet will."

WHITTIER. Amy Wentworth.

"O Romeo, Romeo! wherefore art thou Romeo?
 Deny thy father, and refuse thy name :
 Or if thou wilt not, be but sworn my love,
 And I'll no longer be a Capulet."

SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Juliet), Act II., Sc. II.

"O running stream of sparkling joy
 To be a soaring human boy!"

C. DICKENS. Bleak House (Chadband), Ch. XIX.

- “O shall the braggart shout
For some blind glimpse of freedom, work itself
Thro' madness, hated by the wise, to law, System and empire?” TENNYSON. Love and Duty.
- “O small beginnings, ye are great and strong,
Based on a faithful heart and weariless brain!
Ye build the future fair, ye conquer wrong,
Ye earn the crown, and wear it not in vain.”
LOWELL. To W. L. Garrison.
- “O summer friendship,
Whose flattering leaves, that shadow'd us in
Our prosperity, with the least gust drop off
In th' autumn of adversity!” MASSINGER. Maid of Honour.
- “O, swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon,
That monthly changes in her circled orb,
Lest that thy love prove likewise variable.”
SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Juliet), Act II., Sc. II.
- “O sweetness of content! seraphic joy!
Which nothing wants, and nothing can destroy.”
GRANVILLE. To Mrs. Higgins.
- “O that I were a glove upon that hand,
That I might touch that cheek!”
SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Romeo), Act II., Sc. II.
- “O that men's ears should be
To counsel deaf, but not to flattery.”
SHAKESPEARE. Timon of Athens (Apemantus), Act I., Sc. II.
- “O that the vain remorse which must chastise
Crimes done, had but as loud a voice to warn,
As its keen sting is mortal to avenge.”
SHELLEY. The Cenci (Giacomo), Act V., Sc. I.
- “O that this too too-solid flesh would melt,
Thaw, resolve itself into a dew!
Or that the Everlasting had not fixed
His canon 'gainst self-slaughter!”
SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act I., Sc. II.
- “O the cowardice of a guilty conscience.”
SIR P. SIDNEY. Arcadia, Bk. II.
- “O the curst fate of all conspiracies!
They move on many springs; if one but fail,
The restive machine stops.”
DRYDEN. Don Sebastian (Benducar), Act IV., Sc. I.
- “O the divinity of being rich!”
RANDOLPH. Hey for Honesty (Blepsidemus), Act II., Sc. VII.

“O then, I see Queen Mab hath been with you,
 She is the fairies’ midwife; and she comes
 In shape no bigger than an agate-stone
 On the forefinger of an alderman,
 Drawn with a team of little atomies
 Athwart men’s noses as they lie asleep:
 Her waggon-spokes made of long spinner’s legs;
 The cover, of the wings of grasshoppers;
 The traces, of the smallest spider’s web;
 The collars, of the moonshine’s wat’ry beams;
 Her whip, of cricket’s bone; the lash of film:
 Her waggoner, a small, grey-coated gnat,
 Not half so big as a round little worm
 Pricked from the finger of a maid;
 Her chariot is an empty hazel-nut,
 Made by the joiner squirrel, or old grub,
 Time out of mind the fairies’ coachmakers.”

SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Mercutio), Act I., Sc. IV.

“O there be players that I have seen play—and heard others praise, and that highly—not to speak it profanely, that neither having the accent of Christians, nor the gait of Christian, pagan, nor man, have so strutted and bellowed, that I have thought some of Nature’s journeymen had made men, and not made them well, they imitated humanity so abominably.”

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act III., Sc. II.

“O thou invisible spirit of wine, if thou hast no name to be known by,
 let us call thee devil.”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Cassio), Act II., Sc. III.

“O! ’tis excellent
 To have a giant’s strength; but tyrannous
 To use it like a giant.”

SHAKESPEARE. Measure for Measure (Isabella), Act II., Sc. II.

“O wad some pow’r the giftie gie us
 To see ourselves as others see us!
 It wad frae monie a blunder free us,
 An’ foolish notion:
 What airs in dress an’ gait wad lea’e us,
 And ev’n devotion.”

BURNS. To a Louse.

“O, what a fall was there, my countrymen!”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Antony), Act III., Sc. II.

“O what a glory doth this world put on
 For him who with a fervent heart, goes forth
 Under the bright and glorious sky, and looks
 On duties well performed, and days well spent!”

LONGFELLOW. Autumn.

“O what a goodly outside falsehood hath!”

SHAKESPEARE. Merchant of Venice (Antonio), Act I., Sc. III.

“O what a heaven is love! O what a hell!”

 Act I., Sc. I.*

“ O what a miracle to man is man.”

YOUNG. Night Thoughts, Night I., line 85.

“ O what a thing is man ! the wisest heart
A fool ! a fool that laughs at its own folly,
Yet still a fool ! ”

COLERIDGE. Remorse, Act II., Sc. II.

“ O what a world of vile ill-favour'd faults
Looks handsome in three hundred pounds a-year.”

SHAKESPEARE. The Merry Wives of Windsor (Anne Page), Act III., Sc. IV.

“ O what men dare do ! what men may do ! what men daily do, not knowing what they do ! ”

SHAKESPEARE. *Much Ado about Nothing (Claudio), Act IV.,
Sc. I.*

“ O what's a table richly spread,
Without a woman at its head ! ”

WARTON. The Progress of Discontent.

“ O wherefore should ill ever flow from ill,
And pain still keener pain for ever breed ? ”

SHELLEY. The Revolt of Islam, Can. V., St. 11.

“ O wild west wind, thou breath of autumn's being,
Thou, from whose unseen presence the leaves dead
Are driven, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing,”

SHELLEY. Ode to the West Wind, I.

“ O woman ! in our hours of ease,
Uncertain, coy, and hard to please,
And variable as the shade
By the light quivering aspen made ;
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou ! ”

SIR W. SCOTT. Marmion, Can. VI., XXX.

“ O woman ! lovely woman ! Nature made thee
To temper man ; we had been brutes without you.
Angels were painted fair to look like you.”

OTWAY. Venice Preserved (Jaffier), Act I., Sc. I.

“ O wretched impotence of human mind !
We, erring, still excuse for error find,
And darkling grope, not knowing we are blind.”

PRIOR. Solomon, Bk. I., line 721.

“ O ye powers
That give heav'n countless eyes to view men's acts.”

SHAKESPEARE. Pericles (Pericles), Act I., Sc. I.

Act IV., Sc. I.

“Who lets slip fortune, her shall never find;
Occasion, once past by, is bald behind.”

COWLEY. Pyramus and Thisbe, XV.

Vide—“Time wears all,” etc.

“O'er the glad waters of the dark-blue sea,
Our thoughts as boundless, and our souls as free.”

BYRON. The Corsair, Can. I., I.

“Of all affliction taught a lover yet,
'Tis sure the hardest science to forget.”

POPE. Eloisa to Abelard, line 189.

“Of all beasts the man-beast is the worst,
To others, and himself, the cruelest foe.” R. BAXTER. Hypocrisy.

“Of all the paths lead to a woman's love,
Pity's the straightest.”

BEAUMONT AND FLETCHER. The Knight of Malta (Mount Ferrat), Act I., Sc. I.

Vide—“Pity is sworn.”

“Of all the plagues with which the world is curst,
Of ev'ry ill, a woman is the worst.”

GRANVILLE. The British Enchantress (Amadis), Act II., Sc. I.

“(For) of Fortune's sharp adversite
The worste kinde of infortune is this,—
A man to have been in prosperite,
And it remember when it passed is.”

CHAUCER. Troilus and Cresseide, Boke III., line 1625.

“This is truth the poet* sings,
That a sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier things.” TENNYSON. Locksley Hall.

*Dante. Inferno, Can. V., line 121.

“Of harmes two the lesse is for to chese.”

CHAUCER. Troilus and Cresseide, Boke II., line 470.

“In needful dangers ever chuse the least.”

CHAPMAN. All Fooles (Gostanzo), Act I., Sc. I.

“That of two evils I have chose the least.”

PRIOR. To Mr. Harley.

“'Twas always held, and ever will,
By sage mankind, discreeter
T' anticipate a lesser ill
Than undergo a greater.”

SHENSTONE. Stanzas to the Memory of a Lady.

- “ Of making many books there is no end ; and much study is a weariness of the flesh.”
ECCLESIASTES. Ch. XII., ver. 12.
- “ Of mirth to make a trade may be a crime,
But tired sprites for mirth must have a time.”
SOUTHWELL. To the Reader.
- “ Of other tyrants short the strife,
But Indolence is King for life.”
HANNAH MORE. Florio, Pt. I.
- “ Oft expectation fails, and most oft there
Where most it promises ; and oft it hits,
Where hope is coldest, and despair most sits.”
SHAKESPEARE. All's Well that Ends Well (Helena), Act II., Sc. I.
- “ Oft has good nature been the fool's defence,
And honest meaning gilded want of sense.”
SHENSTONE. Ode to a Lady.
- “ Oft have I wonder'd that on Irish ground
No poisonous reptiles ever yet were found :
Reveal'd the secret stands of Nature's work ;
She saved her venom to create a Burke.”
WARREN HASTINGS. Epigram on Burke.
- “ Oft in savage breasts the buried seeds
Of brooding virtue live, and Freedom's fairest deeds ! ” WARTON. Ode on H. M. Birthday, 4th June, 1788.
- “ Oft in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain hath bound me,
Fond memory brings the light
Of other days around me.”
T. MOORE. Oft in the Stilly Night.
- “ Often change doth please a woman's mind.”
SIR T. WYATT. The Deserted Lover.
- “ Often the cockloft is empty in those which nature hath built stories high.”
FULLER. Holy and Profane States, Bk. V., Ch. XVIII.
- “ Often to our comfort, shall we find
The sharded beetle is a safer hold
Than is the full-wing'd eagle.”
SHAKESPEARE. Cymbeline (Bellarius), Act III., Sc. III.
- “ Oftentimes, to win us to our harm,
The instruments of darkness tell us truths ;
Win us with honest trifles, to betray us
In deepest consequence.”
SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Banquo), Act I., Sc. III.
- “ Oh, bed ! bed ! bed ! delicious bed !
That heaven upon earth to the weary head,
When lofty or low its condition ! ”
T. HOOD. Miss Kilmansegg.

- “ Oh ! better, then, to die, and give
 The grave its kindred dust,
 Than live to see Time's bitter change
 In those we love and trust.” ELIZA COOK. Time's Changes.
- “ Oh Day, if I squander a wavelet of thee,
 A mite of my twelve-hours' treasure.”
 R. BROWNING. Pippa Passes.
- “ Oh death, where is thy victory ? oh death, where is thy sting ? ”
 ST. PAUL. Ep. to the Corinthians, I., Ch. XV., ver. 55.
 “ O grave ! where is thy victory ?
 O death ! where is thy sting ? ”
 POPE. The Dying Christian to his Soul.
- “ Oh, East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet,
 Till earth and sky stand presently at God's great judgment seat ;
 But there is neither East nor West, Border nor Breed nor Birth,
 When two strong men stand face to face, tho' they come from the ends of the earth ! ”
 RUDYARD KIPLING. The Ballad of East and West.
- “ Oh ! ever thus, from childhood's hour,
 I've seen my fondest hopes decay ;
 I never loved a tree or flower,
 But 'twas the first to fade away.”
- “ I never loved a dear gazelle,
 To glad me with its soft black eye,
 But when it came to know me well,
 And love me, it was sure to die ! ” T. MOORE. Lalla Rookh, V.
- “ Oh for a forty parson power.” BYRON. Don Juan, Can. X., St. 34.
- “ Oh God ! it is a fearful thing
 To see the human soul take wing
 In any shape, in any mood.” BYRON. The Prisoner of Chillon, VIII.
- “ Oh God ! that bread should be so dear,
 And flesh and blood so cheap ! ” T. HOOD. The Song of the Shirt.
- “ Oh ! how many torments lie in the small circle of a wedding-ring ! ”
 COLLEY CIBBER. The Double Gallant (Sir Solomon), Act I., Sc. II.
- “ Oh how this spring of love resembleth
 The uncertain glory of an April day,
 Which now shows all the beauty of the sun,
 And, by-and-by, a cloud takes all away ! ”
 SHAKESPEARE. Two Gentlemen of Verona (Protheus), Act I., Sc. III.
- “ Oh ! nature's noblest gift—my gray goose quill !
 Slave of my thoughts, obedient to my will,
 Torn from thy parent bird to form a pen,
 That mighty instrument of little men ! ”
 BYRON. English Bards and Scotch Reviewers.

- “ Oh, no! we never mention her.”
HAYNES BAYLY.
- “ Oh talk not to me of a name great in story;
The days of our youth are the days of our glory.”
BYRON. Stanzas written on the road between Florence and Pisa, I.
- “ Oh that eternal want of pence,
Which vexes public men.”
TENNYSON. Will Waterproof's Lyrical Monologue.
- “ Oh! . . . that mine adversary had written a book.”
JOB. Ch. XXXI., ver. 35 (old version).
The new version runs:—
“ And that I had the indictment which mine adversary hath written!”
- “ Oh! that the Desert were my dwelling-place.
With one fair spirit for my minister,
That I might all forget the human race,
And, hating no one, love but only her!”
BYRON. Childe Harold, Can. IV., CLXXVII.
- “ Oh! there is joy above the name of pleasure.
Deep self-possession, an intense repose.”
COLERIDGE. The Night Scene.
- “ Oh!
Thou then would'st make mine enemy my judge!”
SHELLEY. Prometheus Unbound (Jupiter), Act III., Sc. I.
- “ Oh, 'tis cruelty to beat a cripple with his own crutches.”
FULLER. Holy and Profane States: Holy State: Of Festing.
- “ Oh! too convincing—dangerously dear—
In woman's eye the unanswerable tear!
That weapon of her weakness she can wield,
To save, subdue—at once her spear and shield:
Avoid it—virtue ebbs and wisdom errs,
Too fondly gazing on that grief of hers!
What lost a world and bade a hero fly?
The timid tear in Cleopatra's eye.”
BYRON. The Corsair, Can. II., XV.
- “ Oh! what a crowded world one moment may contain!”
F. HEMANS. The Last Constantine, LIX.
- “ Oh, woman! woman! thou should'st have few sins
Of thine own to answer for! Thou art the author
Of such a book of follies in a man,
That it would need the tears of all the angels
To blot the record out!”
BULWER LYTTON. The Lady of Lyons (Damas), Act V., Sc. I.
- “ Oil and water—woman and a secret—
Are hostile properties.”
BULWER LYTTON. Richelieu (Baradas), Act I., Sc. I.
- “ Oil to the fire.”
COWLEY. The Incurable, IV.

- “ One ear it heard, at the other out it went.”
CHAUCER. Troilus and Cresside, Bk. IV., line 435.
- “ One fire burns out another's burning,
One pain is lessened by another's anguish;
Turn giddy, and be holp by backward turning;
One desperate grief cures with another's languish:
Take thou some new infection to thy eye,
And the rank poison of the old will die.”
SHAKESPEARE. Romeo and Juliet (Benvolio), Act I., Sc. II.
- “ Thus do extremest ills a joy possess,
And one woe makes another woe seem less.”
DRAYTON. *England's Heroical Epistles. Queen
Isabella to Mortimer.*

"One foul sentence, doth more hurt, than many foul examples."

BACON. Essay LVI., Of Judicature.

"One good deed dying tongueless
Slaughters a thousand waiting upon that.
Our praises are our wages: you may ride us
With one soft kiss a thousand furlongs, ere
With spur we heat an acre."

SHAKESPEARE. Winter's Tale (Hermione), Act I., Sc. II.

"One hair of a woman can draw more than a hundred pair of oxen."

J. HOWELL. *Familiar Letters, Bk. II., Letter IV.
To T. D., Esq.*

"Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare,
And beauty draws us with a single hair."

POPE. Rape of the Lock, Bk. II., line 27.

"Not ten yoke of oxen
Have the power to draw us
Like a woman's hair."

LONGFELLOW. The Saga of King Olaf.

"One impulse from a vernal wood
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than all the sages can."

WORDSWORTH. The Tables Turned.

produced." HERBERT SPENCER. Education, Ch. I.

"Open your ears ; for which of you will stop
The vent of hearing, when loud Rumour speaks ?
I, from the orient to the drooping west,
Making the wind my post-horse, still unfold
The acts commenced on this ball of earth :
Upon my tongues continual slanders ride,
The which in every language I pronounce,
Stuffing the ears of men with false reports.
I speak of peace, while covert enmity,
Under the smile of safety, wounds the world."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (Rumour), Induction.

"(A plague of) opinion ! a man may wear it on both sides, like a leather jerkin."

“Our best good here is Nature's bounds to know,
And those attempts to spare, which else would be in vain.”

REV. J. NORRIS OF BEMERTON. To Himself, St. 5.

“Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting :
The soul that rises with us, our life's star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar :

Not in entire forgetfulness,

And not in utter nakedness,

But trailing clouds of glory do we come.” WORDSWORTH. Ode V.

“Our cage

We make our choir, as doth the prison'd bird,
And sing our bondage freely.”

GEORGE ELIOT. Adam Bede, Bk. IV., Ch. XXIX.

“ Our deeds still travel with us from afar,
And what we have been makes us what we are.”

GEORGE ELIOT. Middlemarch, Ch. LXX., head lines.

“ Our discontent is from comparison,
Were better states unseen, each man would like his own.”

REV. JOHN NORRIS OF BEMERTON. The Consolation, St. 2.

“ Our doubts are traitors,
And make us lose the good we oft might win,
By fearing to attempt.”

SHAKESPEARE. Measure for Measure (Lucio), Act I., Sc. IV.

“ Our eyes are sentinels unto our judgments,
And should give certain judgment what they see ;
But they are rash sometimes, and tell us wonders
Of common things, which when our judgments find,
They can then check the eyes, and call them blind.”

but according to the measure of our thoughts.”

A. J. BALFOUR. The Foundations of Belief, Pt. I., Ch. I., III.

“ Our ingress into the world
Was naked and bare ;
Our progress through the world
Is trouble and care ;
Our egress from the world
Will be nobody knows where :
But if we do well here,
We shall do well there.”

LONGFELLOW. The Cobbler of Hagenau.

- “ Our life is but a dark and stormy night
To which sense yields a weak and glimmering light,
While wandering man thinks he discerneth all
By that which makes him but mistake and fall.”
LORD HERBERT OF CHERBURY. To his Mistress, for her true picture.
- “ Our life is but a pilgrimage of blasts,
And every blast brings forth a fear;
And every fear, a death.” QUARLES. Hieroglyph, III., 4.

WORDSWORTH. Memorials of a Tour on the Continent, Pt. II. Desultory Stanzas.
- “ Our remedies oft in ourselves do lie,
Which we ascribe to heaven: the fated sky
Gives as free scope; only doth backward pull
Our slow designs, when we ourselves are dull.”
SHAKESPEARE. *All's Well that Ends Well (Helena),
Act I., Sc. I.*
- “ Our revels are now ended: these our actors,
As I foretold you, were all spirits, and
Are melted into air, into thin air:
And like the baseless fabrick of this vision,
The cloud-capt towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all, which it inherit, shall dissolve;
And like this insubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind! We are such stuff
As dreams are made on; and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep.”

Like an eagle that flieth toward heaven.”

PROVERBS. Ch. XXIII., ver. 5.

“ Riches have wings, and sometimes they fly away of themselves, sometimes they must be set flying to bring in more.”

BACON. Essay XXXIV., Of Riches.

“ Riches : to the wise
And good in public or in private life,
They are the means of virtue, and best serve
The noblest purposes ; but in the use
Not in the bare possession lies the merit.”

WEST. Institution of the Garter, line 461.

“ (It is commonly said, and more particularly by Lord Shaftesbury, that) ridicule is the best test of truth.”

LORD CHESTERFIELD. Letter to his Son. 6th Feb., 1752.

“ Ridicule is the stifler of all energy amongst those she controls.”

BULWER LYTTON. Godolphin, Ch. LI.

“ Rightly to be great,
Is—not to stir without great argument,
But greatly to find quarrel in a straw,
When honour's at the stake.”

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act IV., Sc. IV.

“ Rightly viewed, no meanest object is insignificant ; all objects are as windows, through which the philosophic eye looks into Infinitude itself.”

CARLYLE. Sartor Resartus, Bk. I., Ch. II.

“ (I) rise with the lark.”

ANON. The Maid of the Oaks, Act II., Sc. III.

The numbers of the fear'd."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (Warwick), Act III, Sc. I.

"Rumour is a pipe

Blown by surmises, jealousies, conjectures;
And of so easy and so plain a stop,
That the blunt monster with uncounted heads,
The still-discordant wavering multitude,
Can play upon it."

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (Rumour), Induction.

"Rustic herald of the Spring."

“Scorn at first, makes after-love the more.”

SHAKESPEARE. Two Gentlemen of Verona (Valentine),
Act III., Sc. I.

“Scorn no man’s love, though of a mean degree

Love is a present for a mighty King ;
Much less make any one thine enemy.
As guns destroy, so may a little sling ;
The cunning workman never doth refuse
The meanest tool, that he may chance to use.”

HERBERT. The Temple. The Church Porch.

“ (We have) scotch’d the snake, not kill’d it.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Macbeth), Act III., Sc. II.

DODSLEY

“Security

Is mortal’s chiefest enemy.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Hecate), Act III., Sc. V

“See the wretch, that long has tost

On the thorny bed of pain
At length repair his vigour lost,
And breathe and walk again :
The meanest flow’ret of the vale,
The simplest note that swells the gale,
The common sun, the air, the skies,
To him are opening paradise.”

GRAY. Ode on a Vicissitude.

“ See this flow'r,
This short-liv'd beauty of an hour ! ” BROOME. On a Flower.

“ See what a grace was seated on this brow ;
Hyperion's curls ; the front of Jove himself ;
An eye like Mars, to threaten and command
A station like the herald Mercury
New lighted on a heaven-kissing hill ;
A combination and a form indeed,
Where every god did seem to set his seal,
To give the world assurance of a man.”

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act III., Sc. IV.

“ See what a ready tongue suspicion hath.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (Northumberland), Act I., Sc. I.

“ Seldom comes glory till a man be dead.”

HERRICK. Hesperides, 625.

“ Selfishness, Love's cousin.”

KEATS. Isabella, XXXI.

“ Sense of pleasure we may well
Spare out of life, perhaps, and not repine
But live content, which is the calmest life :
But pain is perfect misery, the worst
Of evils, and excessive, overturns
All patience.”

MILTON. Paradise Lost, Bk. VI., line 159.

“ Serpents lie where flowers grow.”

OLD BALLAD. The Spanish Lady's Love.

Act III., Sc. III.
- “These great rich men take their ease i' their inn.”
MIDDLETON. The World Tost at Tennis (Simplicity).
- “Shall I wasting in despair
Die because a woman's fair ?
Or make pale my cheeks with care
'Cause another's rosy are ?
Be she fairer than the day,
Or the flow'ry meads in May.
If she be not fair to me,
What care I how fair she be ?”
G. WITHER. The Shepherd's Resolution.
Often attributed to Sir W. Raleigh.
- “Shall mortal man be more just than God ?
Shall a man be more pure than his Maker ?”
JOB. Ch. V., ver. 17.

BUNYAN. Pilgrim's Progress (Hopeful), Pt. I.

“Sleep no more!

Macbeth does murder sleep, the innocent sleep;
Sleep, that knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath,
Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Macbeth), Act II., Sc. II.

Vide—“Come, sleep.”

“Sleep, Nurse of our life, care's best reposer, Nature's high'st rapture, and the vision giver.”

LORD HERBERT OF CHERBURY. To his Mistress, for her True Picture.

“(O) sleep, O gentle sleep,
Nature's soft nurse, how have I frighted thee,
That thou no more wilt weigh my eyelids down,
And steep my senses in forgetfulness?
Why rather, sleep, liest thou in smoky cribs,
Upon uneasy pallets stretching thee,
And hush'd with buzzing night-flies to thy slumber,
Than in the perfum'd chambers of the great,
Under the canopies of costly state,
And lull'd with sounds of sweetest melody?
O thou dull god, why liest thou with the vile

In loathsome beds, and leav'st the kingly couch
 A watch-case or a common 'larum-bell?
 Wilt thou upon the high and giddy mast
 Seal up the ship-boy's eyes, and rock his brains
 In cradle of the rude imperious surge,
 And in the visitation of the winds,
 Who take the ruffian billows by the top,
 Curling their monstrous heads, and hanging them
 With deafening clamour in the slippery shrouds,
 That, with the hurly, death itself awakes?—
 Canst thou, O partial sleep, give thy repose
 To the wet sea-boy in an hour so rude;
 And in the calmest and most stillest night,
 With all appliances, and means to boot,
 Deny it to a king? Then, happy low, lie down!
 Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

SHAKESPEARE. *Henry IV., Pt. II. (King Henry),
 Act III., Sc. I.*

'Sleep, Silence' child, sweet father of soft rest,
 Prince, whose approach peace to all mortals brings,
 Indifferent host to shepherds and to kings,
 Sole comforter of minds with grief opprest."

Some reverence for the laws ourselves have made,
Some patient force to change them when we will,
Some civic manhood firm against the crowd.”
TENNYSON. The Princess. Conclusion.

"Some village Hampden, that, with dauntless breast,
The little tyrant of his fields withstood :
Some mute inglorious Milton here may rest,
Some Cromwell guiltless of his country's blood."

GRAY. Elegy in a Country Churchyard.

"How many a rustic Milton has passed by,
Stifling the 'speechless longings of his heart,
In unremitting drudgery and care !
How many a vulgar Cato has compelled
His energies, no longer tameless then,
To mould a pin, or fabricate a nail !"

"Sorrow and silence are strong, and patient endurance is godlike."

LONGFELLOW. Evangeline, Part the Second, I.

"Sorrow breaks seasons, and reposing hours,
Makes the night morning, and the noon-tide night.
Princes have but their titles for their glories,
An outward honour for an inward toil ;
And for unselt imaginations,
They often feel a world of restless cares :
So that, between their titles, and low name,
There's nothing differs but the outward fame."

SHAKESPEARE. Richard III. (Brackenbury), Act I., Sc. IV.

"Sorrow conceal'd, like an oven stopp'd,
Doth burn the heart to cinders."

SHAKESPEARE. Titus Andronicus (Marcus), Act II., Sc. V.

"Sorrow is a kind of rust of the soul, which every new idea contributes in its passage to scour away. It is the putrefaction of stagnant life, and is remedied by exercise and motion."

"The public! why, the public's nothing better than a great baby."

CHALMERS. Letters.

"The public is just a great baby."

Quoted by RUSKIN. Sesame and Lilies, Sec. I., 40.

"The puny schoolboy and his early lay
Men pardon, if his follies pass away;
But who forgives the senior's careless verse,
Whose hairs grow hoary as his rhymes grow worse?"

BYRON. English Bards and Scotch Reviewers.

"The pure soul

Shall mount on native wings, disdain little sport,
And cut a path into the heaven of glory,
Leaving a track of light for men to wonder at."

BLAKE. King Edward the Third (Prince).

"The purest treasure mortal times afford,
Is spotless reputation; that away,
Men are but gilded loam or painted clay.
A jewel in a ten-times barr'd-up chest
Is a bold spirit in a loyal breast.
Mine honour is my life; both grow in one;
Take honour from me and my life is done."

SHAKESPEARE. Richard II. (Norfolk), Act I., Sc. I.

"The quaint* old cruel cox-comb, in his gullet
Should have a hool, and a small trout to pull it"

BYRON. Don Juan, Can. XIII., St. 106.

* Isaak Walton.

"The quality of mercy is not strain'd ;
It droppeth, as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath : it is twice bless'd,
It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes ;
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest ; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown :
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings ;
But mercy is above the sceptred sway,
It is enthronéd in the hearts of kings,
It is an attribute to God himself ;
And earthly power doth then show likest God's,
When mercy seasons justice : Therefore, Jew,
Though justice be thy plea,— consider this,—
That in the course of justice, none of us
Should see salvation : we do pray for mercy ;
And that same prayer doth teach us all to render
The deeds of mercy."

SHAKESPEARE. The Merchant of Venice (Portia), Act IV., Sc. I.

"Not the king's crown, nor the deputed sword,
The marshal's truncheon, nor the judge's robe,
Become them with one half so good a grace,
As mercy does."

SHAKESPEARE. Measure for Measure (Isabella),
Act II., Sc. II.

"Mercy's indeed the attribute of heaven."

OTWAY. Windsor Castle.

"The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong."

ECCLESIASTES. Chap. IX., ver. 11.

"The rain it raineth every day."

SHAKESPEARE. Twelfth Night (Clown sings), Act V., Sc. I.

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act V., Sc. II.

"The rich and the poor meet together :

“The right honourable gentleman is indebted to his memory for his jests, and to his imagination for his facts.”

SHERIDAN. Speech in the House of Commons, in reply to Mr. Dundas.

“The ripest fruit first falls.”

SHAKESPEARE. Richard II. (Richard), Act I., Sc. I.

“The robb’d that smiles steals something from the thief;
He robs himself that spends a bootless grief.”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Duke), Act I., Sc. III.

“The rose is fairest when ’tis budding new,
And hope is brightest when it dawns from fears;
The rose is sweetest washed with morning dew,
And love is loveliest when embalmed in tears.”

SIR W. SCOTT. The Lady of the Lake, Can. IV., I.

BULWER LYTTON. The New Timon, Pt. I., St. 6.

Is holy wedlock in a happy wife.”

QUARLES. History of Queen Esther, Sec. III., Med. 3.

“The same heart beats in every human breast.”

MATTHEW ARNOLD. The Buried Life, line 23.

“The same water that drives the mill, decayeth it.”

STEPHEN GOSSON. The Schoole of Abuse.

“The Schoolmaster is abroad! and I trust more to him, armed with his primer, than I do to the soldier in full military array, for upholding and extending the liberties of his country.”

LORD BROUGHAM. Speech in the House of Commons, 29th Jan., 1828.

“The sea! the sea! the open sea!
The blue, the fresh, the ever free!
Without a mark, without a bound,
It runneth earth’s wide region round;
It plays with the clouds; it mocks the skies;
Or like a cradled creature lies.”

BARRY CORNWALL. The Sea.

“The seed ye sow, another reaps;
The wealth ye find, another keeps;
The robe ye weave, another wears;
The arms ye forge, another bears.”

SHELLEY. To the Men of England.

“The sense of death is most in apprehension ;
And the poor beetle that we tread upon,
In corporal sufferance finds a pang as great
As when a giant dies.”

SHAKESPEARE. Measure for Measure (Isabella), Act III., Sc. I.

“The sickly food
Of popular applause.”

WORDSWORTH. The Borderers (Oswald), Act IV.

“The sight of lovers feedeth those in love.”

SHAKESPEARE. As You Like It (Rosalind), Act III., Sc. V.

“The simplest pleasures must welcome be
When a friendly hand prepares them.”

HAYNES BAYLY. They may talk of scenes that are bright and fair.

“The sin that practice burns into the blood
Will brand us after, of whose fold we be.”

TENNYSON. Merlin and Vivien.

“The single note
From that deep chord which Hampden smote
Will vibrate to the doom.”

TENNYSON. England and America.

“The slave, a member of the country’s peace,
Enjoys it ; but in gross brain little wots
What watch the king keeps to maintain the peace,
Whose hours the peasant enjoys.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry V. (King Henry), Act. IV., Sc. I.

“The sleep of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much ;
but the fulness of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.”

ECCLESIASTES. Chap. V., ver. 12.

“The sleeping and the dead,
Are but as pictures.”

SHAKESPEARE. Macbeth (Lady Macbeth), Act II., Sc. II.

“The smallest effort is not lost ;
Each wavelet on the ocean toss’d
Aids in the ebb tide or the flow ;
Each rain-drop makes some flow’ret blow,
Each struggle lessens human woe.”

CH. MACKAY. The old and the new, 44.

“The smallest worm will turn, being trodden on ;
And doves will peck, in safeguard of their brood.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VI., Pt. III. (Clifford), Act II., Sc. II.

“Poor worms being trampled on Turn tail, as bidding battle to the feet
Of their oppressors.”

RANDOLPH. The Muses’ Looking-glass (Colax), Act III., Sc. III.

“The smoke ascends
To heaven as lightly from the cottage-hearth,
As from the haughtiest palace.”

- "The sound is honey, but the sense is gall."
UNKNOWN. Soliman and Perseda (Soliman), Act IV.
- "The soul o' the purpose, ere 'tis shaped as act,
Takes flesh i' the world, and clothes itself a king,
But when the act comes, stands for what 'tis worth."
R. BROWNING. Luria (Luria), Act III.
- "The soul of a high intent, be it known,
Can die no more than any soul
Which God keeps by Him under the throne."
E. B. BROWNING. Napoleon III., in Italy.
- "The soul of music slumbers in the shell,
Till worked and kindled by the master's spell,
And feeling hearts—touch them but lightly—
A thousand melodies unheard before."
ROGERS. Human Life.
- "The soul, that sample of divinity,
That glorious ray of heavenly light. The soul,
That awful throne of thought, that sacred seat
Of contemplation. The soul, that noble source
Of wisdom, that fountain of comfort, that spring of joy,
That happy token of Eternal life."
VANBURGH. Æsop, Pt. I. (Hortensia), Act I., Sc. I.
- "The soul's armour is never well set to the heart unless a woman's hand has braced it; and it is only when she braces it loosely that the honour of manhood fails."
RUSKIN. Sesame and Lilies, Sec. II., 65.
- "The souls of women are so small,
That some believe they've none at all;
Or if they have, like cripples, still They've but one faculty, the will."

Which one vexed ghost inhabits, night and day,
Is all, lost child, that now remains of thee.”

SHELLEY. The Sunset.

“(But) the tongue can no man tame.”

ST. JAMES. Epistle, Chap. III., ver. 8.

“The tongues of dying men
Enforce attention like deep harmony;
Where words are scarce they're seldom spent in vain;
For they breathe truth that breathe their words in pain.”

SHAKESPEARE. Richard II. (Gaunt), Act II., Sc. I.

“The trav'ler, if he chance to stray,
May turn uncensur'd to his way;
Polluted streams again are pure,
And deepest wounds admit a cure;
But woman no redemption knows;
The wounds of honour never close!”

And while you may go marry ;
For having lost but once your prime
You may for ever tarry.”

HERRICK. Hesperides, 208

“(Not Cassio kill'd I) then murder's out of tune,
And sweet revenge grows harsh.”

SHAKESPEARE. Othello (Othello), Act V., Sc. II.

“Then none were for the party ;
Then all were for the state ;
Then the great man help'd the poor,
And the poor man loved the great.”

MACAULAY. Lays of Ancient Rome, Horatius, XXXII.

“Then take what gold could never buy—
An honest bard's esteem.”

BURNS. To John McMurdo.

“Then teach me, Heav'n! to scorn the guilty bays,
Drive from my soul that wretched lust of praise ;
Unblemish'd let me live, or die unknown :
Oh ! grant me honest Fame, or grant me none !”

POPE. The Temple of Fame, last lines.

“Then, when this body falls in funeral fire,
My name shall live, and my best part aspire.”

BEN JONSON. The Poetaster (Ovid), Act I., Sc. I.

Which have no form, sufferings which have no tongue.”

SHELLEY. The Cenci (Beatrice), Act III., Sc. I.

“There are more things in Heaven and Earth, Horatio,
Than are dreamt of in our philosophy.”

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act I., Sc. V.

“There are no looks like those which dwell
On long-remembered things, which soon
Must take our first and last farewell.”

L. E. L. The Improvisatrice.

“ There are no tricks in plain and simple faith :
 But hollow men, like horses hot at hand,
 Make gallant show and promise of their mettle ;
 But when they should endure the bloody spur,
 They fall their crests, and, like deceitful jades,
 Sink in the trail.”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Brutus), Act IV., Sc. II.

“ There are quarrels in which even Satan bringing help, were not unwelcome.”

CARLYLE. French Revolution, Bk. III., Chap. V., Pt. I.

“ There are some faults so nearly allied to excellence, that we can scarce weed out the vice without eradicating the virtue.”

GOLDSMITH. *The Good-natured Man (Sir W. Honeywood),
 Act I., Sc. I.*

“ There are some meannesses which are too mean even for man—woman, lovely woman alone, can venture to commit them.”

THACKERAY. A Shabby Genteel Story, Chap. III.

“ There are some moments in our fate
 That stamp the colour of our days,
 As, till then, life had not been felt.” L. E. L. The Improvisatrice:

“ (Don't you know, as the French say), there are three sexes—men, women, and clergymen ? ” SYDNEY SMITH. Memoirs.

“ There are three wants which never can be satisfied: that of the rich, who want something more; that of the sick, who want something different; and that of the traveller, who says ‘ Anywhere, but here ’.” EMERSON. Considerations by the Way.

“ There are times
 When simplest things put on a sombre cast.”

KEATS. Otho the Great, Act IV., Sc. I.

“ There are worse losses than the loss of youth.”

“ There are worse pangs than those of want.”

BULWER LYTTON. *Eugene Aram (Eugene Aram), Bk. I.,
 Chap. VIII.*

“ There be many Cæsars,
 Ere such another Julius. Britain is
 A world by itself; and we will nothing pay
 For wearing our own noses.”

SHAKESPEARE. Cymbeline (Cloten), Act III., Sc. I.

“ There be some sports are painful; but their labour
 Delight in them sets off: some kinds of baseness
 Are nobly undergone; and most poor matters
 Point to rich ends.”

SHAKESPEARE. The Tempest (Ferdinand), Act III., Sc. I.

“ There breathes no being but has some pretence
 To that fine instinct called poetic sense.” O. W. HOLMES. Poetry.

“ There burns the quenchless Poetry—Mankind ! ”

BULWER LYTTON. The New Timon, Pt. II., I.

“ There is a budding morrow in midnight.”

KEATS. Sonnet to Homer.

“ There is a day of sunny rest
For every dark and troubled night ;
And grief may hide an evening guest,
But joy shall come with early light.”

PROVERBS. Chap. XVIII., ver. 24.

“ A brother does not always make a friend.”

JEREMY TAYLOR. A Discourse on the Offices of Friendship.

“ There is a harmony

In Autumn, and a lustre in its sky,
Which thro' the summer is not heard nor seen,
As if it could not be, as if it had not been ! ”

SHELLEY. Hymn to Intellectual Beauty.

“ There is a history in all men's lives,
Figuring the nature of the times deceas'd,
The which observ'd, a man may prophesy,
With a near aim, of the main chance of things
As yet not come to life, which in their seeds
And weak beginnings lie intreasur'd.”

SHAKESPEARE. Henry IV., Pt. II. (Warwick), Act III., Sc. I.

“ There is a kindly mood of melancholy
That wings the soul, and points her to the skies.”

DYER. The Ruins of Rome, line 346.

“ There is a mercy which is weakness, and even treason against the common good.”

GEORGE ELIOT. Romola, Bk. III., Chap. LIX.

“ There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is society where none intrudes,
By the deep sea, and music in its roar.”

BYRON. Childe Harold, Can. IV., CLXXVIII.

“ There is a Proverb, and a prayer withal.
That we not to three strange places fall :
From Hull, from Halifax, from Hell, 'tis thus,
From all these three, good Lord deliver us.”

JOHN TAYLOR. A very merry-wherry-ferry voyage.

“ There is a remedy for every wrong and a satisfaction for every soul.”

EMERSON. Immortality.

“ There is a tear for all who die,
A mourner o'er the humblest grave ;
But nations swell the funeral cry,
And triumph weeps above the brave.”

BYRON. On the Death of Sir P. Parker

“There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which taken at the flood, leads on to fortune ;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries.”

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Cæsar (Brutus), Act IV., Sc. III.

“There is but one law for all, namely the law which governs all law, the law of our Creator, the law of humanity, justice, equity—the law of Nature and of Nations.”

“There is no darkness but ignorance.”

SHAKESPEARE. Twelfth Night (Clown), Act IV., Sc. II.

“There is no death i what seems so is transition ;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian
Whose portal we call death.”

LONGFELLOW. Resignation.

“There is no den in the whole world to hide a rogue,
Commit a crime and the earth is made of glass.”

EMERSON. Compensation.

“(For) there is no error so crooked, but it hath in it some lines of truth :
Nor is any poison so deadly, that it serveth not some wholesome use.”

M. TUPPER. *Proverbial Philosophy, Of Truth in Things
False, 3.*

“There is no error to be named, which has not had its professors ; and a man shall never want crooked paths to walk in, if he thinks that he is in the right way, wherever he has the footsteps of others to follow.”

LOCKE. *Essay on the Human Understanding, Bk. IV.,
Chap. XX., Sec. 17.*

Tho’ smock’d, or furr’d and purpled, still the clown.”

TENNYSON. The Princess, IV.

“ This little life is all we must endure,
The grave’s most holy place is ever sure,
We fall asleep, and never wake again;
Nothing of us but the mouldering flesh,
Whose elements dissolve and merge afresh
In earth, air, water, plants, and other men.”

JAMES THOMSON. The City of Dreadful Night, XIV

SHAKESPEARE. Hamlet (Hamlet), Act II., Sc. II.

“To be, or not to be,—that is the question—
Whether ’tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune,
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by opposing end them? To die—to sleep—
No more; and by a sleep to say we end
The heart-ache, and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to,—’tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To die—to sleep;—

To sleep ! perchance to dream : ay, there's the rub ;
 For in that sleep of death what dreams may come,
 When we have shuffled off this mortal coil,
 Must give us pause : there's the respect
 That makes calamity of so long life ;
 For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
 Th' oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,
 The pangs of despised love, the law's delay,
 The insolence of office, and the spurns
 That patient merit of the unworthy takes,
 When he himself might his quietus make
 With a bare bodkin ? Who would fardels bear,
 To grunt and sweat under a weary life,
 But that the dread of something after death,—
 The undiscovered country, from whose bourn
 No traveller returns,—puzzles the will,
 And makes us rather bear those ills we have
 Than fly to others that we know not of ?
 Thus, conscience does make cowards of us all ;
 And thus the native hue of resolution
 Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought ;
 And enterprises of great pith and moment,
 With this regard their currents turn awry,
 And lose the name of action.—Soft you now !
 The fair Ophelia ! Nymph, in thy orisons
 Be all my sins remember'd."

That's true ? Tell me with what you'd turn the scale ?
Yea, make the index waver ? Wealth ? a feather !
Rank ? tinsel against bullion in the balance !
The love of kindred ? That to set 'gainst love !
Friendship comes nearest to 't ; but put it in,
Friendship will kick the beam ! weigh nothing 'gainst it !
Weigh love against the world !
Yet are they happy that have nought to say to it.”

PROVERBS. Chap. XXIII., ver. 13.

“ Within the hollow crown

That rounds the mortal temples of a king,
Keeps death his court ; and there the antick sits,
Scoffing his state, and grinning at his pomp ;
Allowing him a breath, a little scene,
To monarchise, be fear'd, and kill with looks ;
Infusing him with self and vain conceit,—
As if this flesh, which walls about our life,
Were brass impregnable ; and humour'd thus,
Comes at the last, and with a little pin
Bores through his castle-wall, and—farewell, king !”

"Woman! the pride and happiness of man,
 Without whose soft endearments Nature's plan
 Had been a blank, and life not worth a thought;
 Woman! by all the Loves and Graces taught,
 With softest arts, and sure tho' hidden skill,
 To humanise and mould us to her will;
 Woman! with more than common grace form'd here
 With the persuasive language of a tear
 To melt the rugged temper of our isle,
 Or win us to her purpose with a smile;
 Woman! by fate the quickest spur decreed,
 The fairest, best reward of every deed,
 Which bears the stamp of honour."
